UCO DEVELOPMENT OFFICE ADDS THREE NEW FACES

The University of Central Oklahoma Development Office has added three new staff members to their team, naming Reagan Hamlin as Coordinator of Public Relations and Marketing for the UCO Development Office, Melody Hansen as the Development Manager for the UCO Wellness Center and College of Mathematics and Sciences, and Judy Reyes-Henderson as Development Manager for the College of Business Administration and College of Education and Professional Studies.

Hamlin brings a diverse background in both marketing and communications to the UCO Development Office. Since 2002, she has worked in a variety of nonprofit and educational settings including Stillwater Domestic Violence, Oklahoma State University, and most recently her role as Project Coordinator for the UCO College of Business Administration.

Hamlin, an Oklahoma native, holds a bachelor's degree in mass communications from Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau, MO and is currently working toward her Master of Science in Merchandising at Oklahoma State University.

Hansen joins the UCO Development Office staff with established experience in the development arena. A graduate of UCO with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Theater, Hansen served at Citizens Bank in Edmond before returning to her alma mater as the Annual Giving and Scholarship Coordinator for the College of Arts, Media, and Design.

Hansen, also an Oklahoma native, is currently working toward her master's degree in marriage and family counseling at UCO and serves on the board of directors for Oklahoma Shakespeare in the Park.

Reyes-Henderson brings proven development expertise to the team from her role as the Oklahoma City WalkAmerica Director and Division Director of the Oklahoma Central Division of the March of Dimes for the last four years. In this capacity, Reyes-Henderson managed fundraising efforts for the March of Dimes signature event WalkAmerica, now called March for Babies, as well as several other special events to help fund the March of Dimes local and national programs.

Reyes-Henderson, a UCO graduate with a bachelor's in public relations, is starting her second year as a member of the Rotary 29 Foundation.

"We are excited to have Melody, Reagan, and Judy join our development team. They bring a diverse skill set and knowledge of both the campus and community that when combined with our current team members, only strengthens our current development efforts, said Anne Holzberlein, vice president of development and executive director of the UCO Foundation.

The UCO Development Office raises funds to support the mission and the goals of the university which includes scholarship support for students and development of relationships with alumni, friends, donors, and the campus community.
